

Week Two: Cause & Effect

conversation peace

dig up some dirt

Our words and behavior are like the leaves of a plant. They are above the surface and can be observed. Our attitudes and thoughts are hidden like the root of a plant. Some roots of bad speech are envy, pride, malice, arrogance, bitterness, and lack of self-control. The soil represents our deepest beliefs and values. It's the foundation- the ground motivator of everything we say and do.

This week, dig up some dirt by analyzing your sub-standard speech. Describe the speech problem (screaming, snapping, criticizing, etc.). Then identify the root attitude and see if you can identify the false belief from which it sprang.

	Faulty Speech
	Root Attitude(s)
	False Belief

	Faulty Speech
	Root Attitude(s)
	False Belief

	Faulty Speech
	Root Attitude(s)
	False Belief	